NEW CITY MANAGER

We are happy to introduce our new City Manager in this issue. Ken Leet-ham replaced Barry Edwards on January 4th. Ken has been with the City for 6 ½ years and began his service with us as the Community and Economic Development Director in 2010. Ken has over thirty years of full-time work experience in local government and in cities of various types and sizes. He has been an assistant city manager three times and has served as a city manager in two cities prior to coming to North Salt Lake. Ken's work experience has always been in high growth communities in both Florida and Utah. He has a master's degree in Urban and Regional Planning and a bachelor's degree in Political Science.

The City provides many types of services from public safety through police and fire to clean water, parks and open space and long-range planning services. In recent years, the City has worked hard to update its master plans and is now working to implement a new vision for the Town Center and US89 corridors. Ken has worked to direct and guide those team planning efforts, working together with the public and the expertise of the City Planning Commission, Council and City staff. Ken recently said, "I love working at a level of government where the public has immediate access to City staff and elected officials. Real solutions can often be found at this level of government and the public has an opportunity to have significant impact on their quality of life. I believe that in North Salt Lake, we have a chance to build a beautiful, well-rounded community that has outstanding parks, open spaces and trails. We also have the opportunity to create sustainable policies which will maintain our high standard of living and preserve our economic well-being. North Salt Lake is a wonderful place to live and work and is part of a larger region that has an amazing future. As we all work together to manage the growth of our community, we can enjoy low crime, beautiful neighborhoods and parks and a high quality of life."

As the City Manager, Ken is committed to providing the most cost-effective professional services to the public. He believes in staying current with best practices, technology and achieving maximum productivity. One of his goals is to ensure the public has a positive experience when they interact with the City, and feel good about living in North Salt Lake. Of the City employees, Ken also said, "It's a privilege to work with employees in the City who are so dedicated to serving the public. I know of many instances where individual employees have gone out of their way to assist the public. Our employees' hard work and dedication make our City government effective and responsive."

We welcome Ken in his new role and wish him the best.
